

Faithbuilders class has been privileged in our years of Bible study to experience a certain joy in reading various chapters and verses of the Bible but never in a sequential study of the Word from cover to cover. We are now taking that approach and are finding that many Old Testament events are tied closely to New Testament doctrines, leading us to a new and deeper understanding of the Bible.

The members of the Faithbuilders class invite all worshippers - new members of the church, not so new members, and any who craves a deeper understanding of Scripture to join us on our journey. It is never too late to begin. When we get to the end of the Bible, we plan to start over again by taking a slightly different approach. Each Sunday's lesson is a small "pause" to peek into one piece of the Bible, ultimately creating a sweep through the whole volume.

Anyone interested in experiencing a "pause" with us, please contact Kathy Johnston or Laura Rees or just come to Room 108 (CCCA Library) at 11:00 on Sunday morning.
